

ABSTRACT

A rules based system enforces security policies in a data access management system.

- 5 The rules based system provides rules that preclude certain activities, but those rules are only implemented and fired upon certain conditions occurring. This results in certain actions being precluded when specified conditions are true, without additional software required to check for the condition each time the action is requested.

001020" 60956460